A food allergy is an overreaction of the immune system, which is supposed to protect the body, when food is eaten, touched, or inhaled. It is a harmful symptom. Please note that this is different from liking or disliking food.

Cooking Facilities and Cooking Equipment

- All foods are prepared in the same environment.
- We use the same frying oil for all ingredients.
- We do not use special utensils for allergy meals.
- We do not use special utensils for allergy meals, but we do take care to clean them well.

Food allergy accommodations at our facility

- This does not guarantee that all allergens will be eliminated.
- Allergens (7 specified raw materials and 20 items equivalent to specified raw materials) are indicated on each dish.
- If it is difficult to judge for yourself, a name tag will be attached to the plate and the food will be served individually.

Please fill in the table below.
